Ms. Dominguez was a first-generation college graduate in her family. She graduated in May of 2020 with her bachelor's degree in Criminal Justice from Northern New Mexico College. Throughout her time in college, she served as a student ambassador for the university, and worked in recruitment as a tour guide. She plans to go back to school to obtain her master's degree or go to law school.

Ms. Dominguez was born in Santa Fe, New Mexico. She lived in Cuauhtémoc, Chihuahua for some of her childhood and later moved to Pecos, New Mexico. Her parents migrated to the US in the 1990s in hopes of their daughter being born a US citizen. She saw firsthand the struggles of being a part of an undocumented family. Ms. Dominguez dedicated her undergraduate thesis in capturing the experience of undocumented Mexicans through a series of interviews. Her personal experiences, alongside the stories she learned from her thesis interviews, motivated her to find a place that serves the immigrant community and helps those in need.
